A MESSAGE FROM OUR CEO TED TAYLOR

2022 was a recovery year for Family Promise in that congregations, the heart of our shelter model, were-and still are- struggling to get their membership back in person. As a result, we have seen a 30% reduction in congregational hosting, yet managed to hold steady the volume of families in shelter. Here is the truth: the congregational model of hosting at Family Promise is, by far, the most effective way to rescue families. We are leading the re-inspiration of congregations to serve those in need across the Valley, in-person. Our commitment is unwavering and really important to families in need of safe, short-term shelter, and to congregations who are called to live out their faith by hosting them. Our over 3,800 volunteers, combined with generous individual donors, Foundations, and Organizations, make Family Promise possible. America is the most generous country on earth. Family Promise is the purest model of solving a major societal problem by partnering with the community. As a result, we remain inspired by you and what you have made possible this year.

ABOUT FAMILY PROMISE - GREATER PHOENIX

When a family loses their home, they lose more than a roof over their head. They often lose sight of who they are, what direction to head in, and even how to get there. That's when Family Promise steps in to support the whole family including their much-loved pets. We welcome each family with a listening ear, an open heart, caring connections, employment opportunities, financial and tenancy classes, all leading towards the goal of regaining permanent stable housing.

★ PREVENTION

We help at-risk families with past rent, deposit assistance, and utilities through our Prevention Program so they can remain in a home together and never have to experience homelessness.

★ SHELTER

We keep the whole family together – including their pets – because in times of crisis, that's where people find the strength that leads to success. We partner with faith congregations to provide family-style meals, activities, and bedrooms for each family.

★ STABILIZATION

When a family graduates and moves into a permanent home, we continue working with them for up to 24 months. Our case management, emergency assistance, employment, parenting, and financial coaching helps families become self-sufficient and remain in stable housing.

BEHIND THE NUMBERS

PREVENTION

There is a moment during the prevention process when hope is renewed ... when shoulders unclench ... and families take a deep breath recognizing that Family Promise is there for them, and they will not have to face eviction. Their children will continue to sleep in their own beds ... they will not have to change schools or leave behind friends and classmates. They will not be pulled onto the emotional roller coaster of homelessness.

The families are often surprised to find they are not alone ... they are not judged ... but rather they are supported and cared for.

The reasons for the need for assistance are as varied as the families that apply. A prolonged illness, a divorce, a cut back in hours, and very often a rental increase or an increase in the cost of childcare. Family K, with mom working two jobs while raising 6 children under the age of 11, was faced with the challenge of finding affordable childcare over the summer for her school-aged children. During this time, she lost one of her jobs and without that income was faced with the choice of paying rent or feeding her family. Going to work or leaving her young school-age children in the care of her 11-year-old.

BEHIND THE NUMBERS

PREVENTION

She had no real option but to not pay her rent which led to eviction proceedings. This is where Family Promise stepped in and up. We were able to provide a month's rent and continue to follow this family to ensure that they remain stable and housed.

The R family... mom, dad with three children under the age of 5 were faced with eviction when their third child was only 2 weeks old. Mom had stopped working when the baby arrived early and although she planned on returning to her job in 6 weeks ... 6 weeks without her income and dad laid off for taking too much time off when the baby was born put their housing in jeopardy.

With financial assistance from Family Promise the family was able to remain in their apartment. Their children know the security of a roof over their heads ... warm beds to dream big dreams in ... a mom and dad who are both back to work and who have shared their gratitude for all of the help they received.

It is a privilege to assist these families and all the others who call us daily in need of assistance and we judge our success by the help that we lend!

SHELTER

We all recognize that our lives are made up of a series of moments ... moments that bring you to your knees ... and those that raise you up with joy! Here at Family Promise we are privileged to witness both.

In early May the S family were on their knees. Their infant son had experienced a severe medical crisis that had forced them to move to the Phoenix area in search of social and medical services. The family was living in a motel and with funds running low they needed to find more permanent shelter for their family. If they could not find shelter, there was the looming possibility that their children would be removed from their care.

The family came to Family Promise as a referral from Phoenix Children's Hospital where their youngest son was hospitalized and could not be released to them until shelter had been found and confirmed. In addition to the baby, they had two other 'littles' under the age of 5.

Within a week or so both parents had found employment, applied for, and were approved for daycare assistance, and within 6 weeks the family was able to move into transitional housing.

Upon graduation, they wrote, "We are proud of ourselves for accomplishing everything asked of us. We worked hard on making the best of our stay. Family Promise really helped us not lose our kids and stay together."

Their story and others like it begin with the fear of losing their children, if unsheltered. With resilience, determination, and commitment, their story ends with a family portrait that conveys stability and independence.

STABILIZATION

BUILDING A BRIGHTER FUTURE

Affordable housing remains a critical concern in the Greater Phoenix area, where rising housing costs and stagnant wages have created a challenging environment for families. Family Promise tackles this issue by offering a range of programs to empower families and help them regain stability. Our emergency shelter and on site apartments for working families provide a safe haven for those experiencing homelessness. We tell our families at graduation that they are always part of our family. Many need our long-term help transitioning to permanent housing.

That's why Family Promise is developing purpose-built transitional housing units. They specifically meet the needs of low-income families, providing them with furnished, safe, decent, and affordable homes where they can thrive and rebuild their lives.

Key to the success of Family Promise's affordable housing initiative -FP Village- is our collaboration with various stakeholders. We work closely with local government agencies, community organizations, and dedicated volunteers to expand their reach and provide comprehensive support to families in need. This collaborative approach creates a strong network of resources, ensuring families can access the assistance they require.

CONGREGATIONAL PARTNERSHIP

- Family Promise is blessed with our congregational partners who support our mission with meals, lodging and financial assistance.
- The community-based shelter enables our congregations to carry out their biblical duty of supporting and accompanying their fellow brothers and sisters during challenging periods in their families' lives.

Do not withhold good from those to whom it is due, when it is in your power to do it.

VOLUNTEERS

We recognize and appreciate the immense significance of the loving and generous support provided to the families we serve by our Interfaith Hospitality Network volunteers. These collaborations allow congregations to live out their faith by extending a helping hand to those in need. Congregational partnerships bring together the power of the individual ... the community ... along with resources. Creating a true community response to a community challenge ... family homelessness.

When congregations pool their strengths, mobilize their volunteers, and leverage their networks to provide comprehensive support services for our families they are saying we see you ... we hear you ... you and your family are important to us.

Such partnerships offer a unique opportunity for volunteers to meet the immediate need for meals and overnight shelter and to begin to address the loss of community. The Interfaith Hospitality Network is a vital part of our volunteer programming but there are other opportunities as well.

We also benefit from strong community volunteers and local organizations. Through these partnerships, our families receive items that they would otherwise not be able to provide for their children. Clothing, household goods, toys, a new pair of shoes and back-to-school supplies are just some of the items that are collected and donated through drives sponsored on our behalf.

Together the Congregational volunteers and the Community volunteers create a profound impact, bringing hope, healing, and transformation to the lives of our families and in so doing their lives are also enriched and transformed.
